SUBJECT: NASA eNTRe Training

The Office of Technology Transfer (OTT) is sponsoring a NASA eNTRe Training session on Tuesday, October 5, 2004. This course is open to NASA inventors and contractors who disclose or would like to know how to disclose their technologies.

What is eNTRe?

eNTRe is an acronym for electronic New Technology Reporting System, which is a web-based invention disclosure tool for innovators.

Why use eNTRe?

- Support e-gov/paperless environment and "One NASA" initiatives
- More efficiently fulfill NTR requirements

Key Features of eNTRe

- Secure (requires registration and login)
- Secure Socket Layer (SSL) 128 bit encryption protocol
- Easy step-by-step form fill out
- Online help
- Displays status and assigned case # information

To access eNTRe, please visit the GSFC OTT website at <http://techtransfer.gsfc.nasa.gov> and Click on the eNTRe tab.

The training schedule and location are as follows:

Tuesday, October 05, 2004, B26-R212-.G-Conference Room, 1:30pm – 5:00pm

Registration is required to attend this training session. The registration forms and additional details are available on the following website. <http://entretraining.knowledgesharing.com>.

For further information, please contact Mr. Abdul Ibrahim at 301-286-8017.
